He was such a good young man that shouldn't have left yet, they say only the good pass young, but he was so much more than just good. His personality was out of this world and simply one of a kind, he will be missed and was more loved than he could have ever thought, but his love and memory and his wild spirit will live on in all of us who loved him, rest easy Brandon, you're beyond loved. Marissia was his one true love, he was there anytime for her, for the ups and downs in their relationship, but his love for her never faltered, even after their separation he always made a place for her in his life and heart.
