“ I will never be able to do anything close to justice to explain what Lisa meant to me cause when my world fell apart and I was so exhausted and felt like I had no one to help me keep it together there she was to make sure that I was ok and the love she showed for us and the kids when we had four deaths back to back was beyond what most had shown me I was so exhausted and heartbroken from losing not just six close family butawven major people in my life in a matter of two years and was going through my own health problems and personal life and she never had anything but kindness and support and she helped me with my child who had lost all the grandparents he ever had within a few years and yes my mom and step dad are living but they have not been hands on with my children unless it was holidays or events she always checked on Andy after he had such a hard time with losing Harold and Lane and John and Dad and His caca and then my grandma she was better at teaching him and showing him the way to cope then even the grief counseling he was getting she never judged me for choices I had made because she knew that my children were my world and that despite the opinions of others I was always doing right by the kids. She showed me that I would be able to get my kids to one day understand that I was always thinking about them and loved them all the same because a mother loves her children no matter what even when they didn't know what being a real parent means. She taught me that loving your children sometimes means you have to do it from a distance but that sometimes the world uses that against you I love you so much Lisa and I will not ever forget how much you have meant to me and my kids. Please tell the family that I miss them and tell wild will that he is so missed and that someday we will all be together until then get some rest you worked hard enough for a long time now mmmwwaahh
